About 80 patrons of Damon's Steak House gathered at Santa Anita Feb. 19 where the Second Race was named to commemorate Damon's 70th year in downtown Glendale.

"Who knew that a steak house with a tropical atmosphere would engender such a legion of fans throughout Southern California," owner Patrick Campbell said. "We're proud to be in an elite number of restaurants that have celebrated 70 years — and we look forward to 70 more years of great food and fun."

Renowned for its huge steaks and world famous mai tais, Damon's opened its doors for business on June 11, 1937, and will celebrate its birthday by hosting a fundraiser for Glendale Healthy Kids, complete with a special menu featuring food and prices from 1937. Tickets for the June 11 event go on sale in April.
